Introduction

- 1. GCSE subject criteria set out the knowledge, understanding, skills and assessment objectives common to all GCSE specifications in modern foreign languages except where, in particular languages, the regulators indicate otherwise. They provide the framework within which an awarding body creates the detail of the specification.
- Specifications must also meet the regulators' general requirements, including the common and GCSE criteria as defined in The statutory regulation of external qualifications (QCA/04/1293).
- 3. Subject criteria are intended to:
- help ensure consistent and comparable standards in the same subject across the awarding bodies
- ensure that the rigour of GCSE is maintained
- ensure that specifications build on the knowledge, understanding and skills established by the national curricula for England, Northern Ireland and Wales, and facilitate progression to further study of modern foreign languages
- help higher education institutions, employers and other stakeholders such as learners and parents/guardians know what has been studied and assessed.
- 4. Any GCSE specification that contains significant elements of modern foreign languages must be consistent with the relevant parts of these subject criteria.
- 5. Specifications may be offered under the following titles and must include the name of the language concerned:
 - GCSE in [language]
 - GCSE in [language]; spoken language (short course)
 - GCSE in [language]; written language (short course)

Aims and learning outcomes

6. GCSE specifications in modern foreign languages should encourage learners to derive enjoyment and benefit from language learning, and be inspired, moved and changed by following a broad, coherent, satisfying and worthwhile course of study. Learners should recognise that their linguistic knowledge, understanding and skills help them to take their place in a multilingual global society and also provide them with a suitable basis for further study and practical use of the language. GCSE specifications in modern foreign languages should prepare learners to make informed decisions about further learning opportunities and career choices.

- 7. GCSE specifications in modern foreign languages must enable learners to:
- develop understanding of the language in a variety of contexts
- develop knowledge of the language and language learning skills
- develop the ability to communicate effectively in the language
- develop awareness and understanding of countries and communities where the language is spoken.

Subject content

- 8. The content of GCSE specifications in modern foreign languages must reflect the learning outcomes.
- GCSE specifications in modern foreign languages must allow learners to develop the knowledge, skills and understanding specified below, as appropriate to the specification title.
- 10. GCSE specifications in modern foreign languages must require learners to:
- listen and respond to different types of spoken language
- communicate in speech for a variety of purposes
- read and respond to different types of written language
- communicate in writing for a variety of purposes
- use and understand a range of vocabulary and structures
- understand and apply the grammar of the language, as detailed in the specification.
- 11. GCSE specifications in modern foreign languages must set out contexts and purposes that:

- are of relevance and interest to learners
- correspond to learners' level of maturity
- reflect, and are appropriate to, the culture of countries and communities where the language is spoken
- relate, where appropriate, to other areas of the curriculum.
- 12. For speaking and writing, a specification must allow for centres and/or learners to have some choice of contexts and purposes, including the possibility of proposing a context or purpose of their own.
- 13. GCSE specifications in modern foreign languages must specify grammar and linguistic structures (see the Appendix for French, German and Spanish) and a minimum core vocabulary, consistent with any additional guidance agreed between the regulators and awarding bodies. In addition, key words and phrases used in rubrics in the language must be listed, where applicable.

Assessment objectives

14. All specifications in modern foreign languages must require candidates to demonstrate their ability to:

	Assessment objectives	% weighting
AO1	Understand spoken language	20–30
AO2	Communicate in speech	20–30
AO3	Understand written language	20–30
AO4	Communicate in writing	20–30

15. GCSE short course specifications must require candidates to demonstrate their ability in relation to only two of the assessment objectives, either AO1 and AO2, or AO3 and AO4.

Scheme of assessment

- 16. GCSE specifications in modern foreign languages must require candidates to express themselves in the specified language when speaking and writing.
- 17. For both AO2 and AO4, at least 10% of the total marks for the subject must be allocated to knowledge and accurate application of the grammar and structures of the language prescribed in the specification.
- Question papers in modern foreign languages must be targeted at either Foundation or Higher tier.
- 19. The use of dictionaries will not be permitted in any external assessment.
- 20. GCSE specifications in modern foreign languages must allocate a weighting of 40% to external assessment and a weighting of 60% to controlled assessment in the overall scheme of assessment.
- 21. Assessment of AO2 and AO4 must be by controlled assessment consistent with the guidance developed by the regulators.

Grade descriptions

- 22. Grade descriptions are provided to give a general indication of the standards of achievement likely to have been shown by candidates awarded particular grades. The descriptions must be interpreted in relation to the content in the specification; they are not designed to define that content.
- 23. The grade awarded will depend in practice upon the extent to which the candidate has met the assessment objectives overall. Shortcomings in some aspects of candidates' performance in the assessment may be balanced by better performances in others.
